IBA Gomel offers a wide range of IT services including consulting, development, migration, maintenance, and support. We are offering cost-effective and high quality services both in custom-made software and legacy system reengineering. We are dealing with operating systems, applications, Internet/Intranet and network products by implementing all or any stages - "Concept - Implementation - Maintenance - Support - Upgrade" of their life cycle. Design from Scratch/End-to-End Development Porting and Reengineering Localization and Internationalization Maintenance and Support Functions/Systems Verification and Testing Products Integration and Preparation for Delivery Documentation Design/Development Web Design/Development SAP Consulting New Currency (Euro) Solutions Repackaging

More than 150 highly skilled professionals who have extensive experience in system and application development from mainframe to PC are involved in project implementation to serve our customers all over the world. Over the past five years, the scope of work has increased more than threefold. Recently, IBA Gomel expanded its services to include repackaging. We convert applications to a silent (unattended) installation package that can be automatically installed/distributed from Distribution Server at the user request. The service facilitates the management of software assets in large and distributed organizations, minimizes the involvement of human resources in the deployment process, and reduces the cost of deployment.

We invite you to take advantage of our superior services.
